It hardly seems conceivable that we have had to lock up the church and cancel services. It is almost certainly the first time in the history of our church building that this has happened. We had hoped the church would be available for private prayer and for socially-distanced funerals and weddings, but alas we have been faced with a wholesale lockdown.

On the one hand I am embarrassed about this, but on the other hand I can only agree with doing everything possible to limit the spread of the virus. We don't know at this stage what we shall be allowed to do as relaxation of lockdown kicks in, but we shall do all we can to be open to the village where possible.

In the meantime we have been busy on a number of fronts. Of high concern was the welfare of the Under Fives group. We work closely with this wonderful organisation to provide the most comfortable and secure space we can within the church hall. Though they are unable to meet at present, we shall ensure that all is ready for them to resume as allowed.

Our focal ministers, Sara and Dave Bryon, have worked closely with other volunteers in the village to ensure residents can access food, medicines and health services. Along with Helen Watson, they are in touch with members of our congregation on a weekly basis to keep up spirits amidst isolation. We are also grateful to Dave Williams for helping them keep up a weekly check of the building.

We have not given up on worship. In fact we have expanded it to a daily pattern of devotions. All of this is online. Our Bodmin Team Ministry YouTube channel is full of 'thought for the day' videos. Sunday services are recorded during the week and presented through our website www.bodminteam.church Many of the members of the congregation at Lanivet have taken part - filming themselves reading a lesson or saying prayers. This is where it is valuable being part of the wider team, where we can draw from a range of people with skills and input.

Finally, we have been able to launch a new newsletter. This comes under the banner of our pilgrimage project, Bodmin Way. It was already due to be published for April, but we needed to work swiftly to adapt its content and purpose. Both April and May editions have focused on the adaptations and initiatives taken by people and businesses in the villages and town as a result of the virus. You can download it from the home page of our website and read all about the Bodmin Bikers, Lanivet Inn and so much more.

Lanivet Parish Council

As with all newsletters they become out of date as soon as they are written it seems. Rereading my previous letter I noticed my note of optimism for better weather, which we certainly have enjoyed, and for VE Day celebrations and other events.

Given the current rapid change of news concerning the virus and how it affects everyday life it seems pointless for me to say anything here.

Suffice it to say that we are thankful to the many volunteers who have done their utmost to help the more vulnerable in the Parish. My personal thanks to Barry Cornelius who has organised this.

More obviously you will, no doubt, be aware that the Lanivet Inn have been able to source boxes of food for sale to those self isolating and to anyone else in need on top of their take away meals service. Also Baker Tom has been seen at the Lanivet Car Park each Monday at 3:00pm selling fresh bread. The Spar shop has continued to be open during this crisis and now I see that the Welcome Stranger is open for take away meals.

I have been proud to hear the cacophony of sounds on a Thursday night celebrating our precious NHS. May we never lose it through neglect and indifference. Not only have I heard clapping and saucepan banging but someone has an air raid siren!!

So to sum up, we are again reminded of the preciousness of village life that cannot be replicated in other settings. We are truly blessed with some remarkable people who give their time and themselves selflessly for the benefit of the whole community. And again I say THANK YOU to you all.

Obviously the VE Day celebrations weren't quite what we had originally planned nevertheless I am grateful to Peter Old who has put up a banner to honour all those who sacrificed much during WWII to allow us to live relatively peaceful and safe lives. I did speak to some villagers, whilst the 1940s music was being sounded out with some gusto, about having some sort of celebration when we are allowed to mix together again. There seemed to be a lot of support for this so I will be asking my fellow councillors to consider this in the months ahead.

As a Parish Council we continue to function. Last month we had our first council meeting using "Zoom" which was successful. Indeed we covered our agenda in record time. You are still able to contact Julie Burdon our Parish Clerk as usual so it is business as usual for us.

Please do read the notice boards, Facebook and our webpage for up to date information. We do live in extraordinary times and it is difficult to keep you updated on all matters so please be watchful and contact our Clerk if you have issues that need to be raised or shared.

I do hope you are all able to stay safe and keep well.

Lanivet Parish Community Centre and Age Uk Cornwall Electric Mini Van VOLUNTEER DRIVERS NEEDED

We are very pleased to announce that the Community Centre has been allocated one of 6 Electric Mini Vans recently purchased by Age UK Cornwall.

It has been provided on the basis to connect local communities and reduce social isolation and can seat 4 people and a standard wheelchair.

With this in mind we will be using the vehicle to:

Provide access to and from the community centre
Provide transport to other venues and places for people with no other means of transport.

There will be a small charge for this service to cover running costs.

The vehicle can also be hired by groups direct from Age UK Cornwall which will involve a membership fee and hire charge.

To operate this vehicle effectively we need a bank of volunteer drivers - all you need is a current driving licence.

We will provide the necessary training for driving and recharging the vehicle and using the wheelchair access.

If you are interested in being a volunteer, or using the vehicle then please pop into the Community Centre or phone 01208 832684 for further details.

We are still intending to get a larger minibus .

Garden Jottings

Frankly, I don't really know where to start this month's garden 'jottings.' Literally the moment I finished the last piece for the magazine the entire country went into lockdown due to the Covid-19 virus. I think we may all know someone who has been touched in some way by this pernicious virus; whether it be at a personal level or affected in some way by the lockdown itself. I would like to express my heartfelt thoughts with anyone who may have been affected in some way by the current situation. The hot weather didn't make it any easier for us either. March broke all records by becoming the hottest, driest month since records began. Unfortunately, nobody could officially venture out and enjoy it!! The upside of lockdown was that it gave us the time and impetus to get out in the garden (if you have one) and get to grips with all those jobs you have been putting off. That was certainly the case for me.

My garage, shed and greenhouses are the tidiest they have ever been, unfortunately I needed the waste/recycling centres to open up. Although I'm thinking some of you have enjoyed the relative quiet the closure has brought the area!! Early spring meant that I could start to move one of my raised beds. Firstly, my Japanese acer was heavily pruned at the start of the year in preparation for the transfer and my bulbs and alpines have been relocated as and when they died back. I dug over the new area prior to work commencing adding in plenty of organic material and gravel to aid better drainage. I then utilised some of the 'old' topsoil with bags of soil to replenish the new bed. Hopefully with adequate, regular watering the shrubs should all take. Most of the bulbs will eventually be replanted in the new bed but I am working on a new design to change with the times. I'm going for a less maintenance bed to save my poor back which unfortunately cannot do what it did just a few years ago. I'm sure you can all empathise with that?

At the time of going to press our garden centres have slowly returned to opening but with the proviso the cafe/restaurants remain closed to help with social distancing (correct at time of writing). If you can it's well worth paying a flying visit to capture some cheap bedding plants which have been all been delayed as a result of the lockdown. There has to be a bargain if you look for it! The early wet spring ensured our primroses and now bluebells and the pink campion have made our hedgerows just beautiful. I have also used this time to relocate seedling primroses to a safer location; it's easy to dig them out and split them if they have become larger plants. As long as they are watered in well and this is maintained they plants will establish easily. Weeding is very much an essential past time as the April showers assisted their germination and they come up everywhere.

There's lots to do these coming months as the warmer weather should be upon us. Remember to water regularly with a feed if necessary and carefully hoeing around your plants to keep on top of the weeds. Finally do not forget your pots, ensure they are well watered and fed to help them through their growing season. Shrubs in pots dry out exceedingly quickly especially if they are terracotta. The knock test is a quick easy way to test if the pot is dry or damp. Above all happy gardening and "stay safe everyone". Ivor Mower

The campaign aimed at deterring people from driving to Cornwall.

The message being if you drive here you must return home at the end of the day.

Think twice about bathing in the sea as there is no Lifeguard cover in the county.

CC is working very closely with 'Visit Cornwall' and other similar parties.

Alleged breach of holiday homes, holiday accommodation and second homes will continue to be monitored and investigated as and when any are reported by the Councils Enforcement Teams who are available and working seven days a week.

Second Homes and Camping issues will come under Police investigation.

Anyone suspecting any breaches of this work can easily report their suspicions in confidence on the Cornwall Council website Covid19 email.

This campaign has been extremely successful.

Care Homes

Any concerns, issues or enquiries concerning Care Homes or Care Home residents can be again followed through on the Cornwall Council website.

 Home visits Beginners welcome

Happy Easter from the new Christian church in the village!

Gateway Church now meets every Sunday at 4.45pm in The One For All Lanivet Parish Community Centre. Please feel free to come and join us.

We are a family friendly, lively church who are part of the Elim Church network throughout the UK and also part of the Christian Churches network in Bodmin. We have been meeting in Lanivet since September 2019. We have relocated from Bodmin, where we have been serving the town for the past five years. We also run a church in Launceston.

Some people may be wondering who we are and where we fit within the Christian community. Our heart and vision is to reach out with the word of God to the villages between Bodmin, Newquay, St Austell and Wadebridge. Imagine for one moment a church which will take us all on a journey, navigating through some of the big questions being asked in our society at the moment, discovering the truth about Jesus, the love of God and the importance of encouraging one another in our faith. The picture comes to mind of a fire without fuel, that will eventually burn out and no longer be effective if it is not looked after and fed.

You may well be a Christian not currently part of a church or someone wanting to find out more about the Christian faith, we warmly welcome you to join us one Sunday evening to find out more.

You can find us on Facebook - <https://www.facebook.com/bodminchurch/>

We would love more pictures like this, or even more modern on ones showing how the village has changed. Maybe you have that picture of your house when you first moved in. sometimes the background shows what was there before more houses were built . If you cant email them to me then I can come and take them to copy and return them to you, in the same day as I don't want your precious phot any longer than I need.

I've been looking through some of Andy's mum's old photos and found these. I was wondering if anyone recognises any of the people in them? I know the two crosses on the Lanivet Platoon one refer to Joe Selby and Bill Thomas but would be thrilled to know if anyone knows anybody else

This saddens me to put this post up, however I feel it's a must!. Pots of planted violas that I have left on my mum's grave have been taken. They were freshly put there last week. Has anyone else had anything like that happen to them recently? Please would people mind being vigilant and if they see anything suspicious, please don't hesitate to report it to someone. Please don't approach them. Thank you

Please report to the parish clerk if you see anything. .

Cecil Williams

We have all been extremely saddened at the recent and fairly sudden passing of one of our much revered parishioner.

Cecil William, first came into the Lanivet parish when his family took occupation of Treliggan Farm, he attended the local village school.

With the passage of time Cecil moved to the outskirts of the parish to another farm, Colbiggan, returning later to the home farm at Treliggan and latterly occupying one of two cottages associated with that farm for his retirement .

His son David occupies Cottage No 2.

Cecil was particularly interested in the shire horses on the farm, he recently recalled that he always provided the wagon and horses for the parade of the Carnival Queen at the annual village carnival. He also loved gardening and everything associated with it and devoted much of his time over many years in the maintenance of the Parish Cemetery in Tremear Lane.

Although Cecil was fairly regular in his attendance at the local Methodist Churches , he very quickly learnt to ring the bells at the Parish church in later life and achieved much enjoyment from the annual and evening outings associated with that skill.

He will be greatly missed by everyone who knew him.

It was a poignant moment when Panda fun netball player Jess Machin, a Healthcare Assistant/Activities Co-ordinator at Cornwall Partnership NHS Foundation Trust collected her parcel of headbands and scrub bags. "I'd like to thank everyone involved in the making of these items," said a tearful Jess. "It's so lovely how the community are coming together to help all us key workers and I know this caring approach has always shown up in our Panda family."
